The hospital administrator The Austin hearing dealing D.H. Nicholson as Democratic district judge has been postponed again—this time due to the illness of Nicholson's attorney, it has been reported from Austin.

The hearing in the case, styled "The State of Texas on relation of William J. McKie vs. D.H. Nicholson," has been postponed until 2 p.m. Monday in 167th District Court at Austin, with Judge Tom Blackwell presiding.

The case seeks to bar Nicholson's name from the November ballot on the grounds that he is not eligible for the judgeship according to the Texas although he

A Buck for Buckling Up

STEVENS POINT, Wis. (AP) — A traffic safety class at the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point handed out a "buck" for those who buckled up for safety Wednesday.

A school official said 32 motorists surveyed received the silver dollars, provided in cooperation with the local Elks club. Those who weren't wearing the safety belts received a note saying, "Thanks, you just saved us a buck."

The safety education class found 28 per cent of those questioned were wearing the belts. It found women over 25 had the best record, with 50 per cent wearing the safety devices.

campaign to clean up the town to improve health and "quality of life" conditions with city government

Clean Up Begins In Rice

 Residents of this community began Monday a concerted campaign to clean up the town to beautify and "improve the quality of life of our citizens," said Ron Cavender, a man who wears many hats.

The Rice city government, which Cavender heads as mayor of the town council, is a key force behind the campaign, but then, so is the newly formed "Rice Improvement Club," which has approximately 60 members.
"Who heads the improvement club?" the mayor, who also is president of Rice State Bank, was asked from his bank office.

"Well, I'm president of that (the club), too," he answered.
Lending not only moral but physical help to the Rice townspeople are workers from the Navarro County Action Committee, who reported for first-day duty Monday under the supervision of Frank Commiato, NCAC director of housing.

"The Action Committee is sending us a dozen to 15 workers, and we got started today with one crew tearing down some unsightly buildings and another doing general clean up," Mayor Cavender related.

The townspeople are entering into the drive with high enthusiasm, a culmination of "talks" and planning for this form of action that have grown out of monthly meetings of the Rice Improvement Club held at the school house.

Rice townspeople began Monday a civic undertaking to clean up their town, ridding it of dilapidated buildings such as these—the old abandoned Masonic Hall (top) on the main street—and the old Halbert house, vacant for years.
